After visiting Italy on three separate occasions with my dog, Italy is hands-down one of the most dog-friendly destinations in Europe. While the German-speaking countries have a reputation for being dog-friendly (and certainly are), in Italy there's even more places that you can visit with a dog, including rather relaxed rules when it comes to dogs, that I haven't encountered in other ...

Dogs have passports? Yep! Time was when dogs (and cats) travelling within Europe had to stay in 6 month quarantine - unpleasant for the animal and expensive for its owner! Now, as long as dogs, cats and ferrets have the required paperwork, they are allowed to travel freely within Europe. And that includes entering and moving around Italy.
